

FirstChoice Wholesale Pension Withdrawal Form

Important information about withdrawing from your fund

You should talk with your financial adviser about the taxation and social security benefit consequences that may apply as a result of withdrawing a super benefit from your pension.

If you do not specify whether you would like your withdrawals to be treated as an irregular pension payment or a commutation, we will not be able to process your request until we receive your instructions.

Account based Pension withdrawals

Can I make withdrawals from my account based pension?

Withdrawals can generally be made at any time unless you have invested in a pre-retirement pension (see below for further details). These are treated as either:

- an irregular pension payment – depending on when you receive the payment and your age, part or all of this could be included in your taxable income and subject to tax at personal income tax rates, although a tax offset may apply (please see the current PDS for further information). You should also note:
 - there is no maximum limit unless you have invested in a pre-retirement pension, in which case you are generally limited to a maximum annual pension of 10% of your account balance at commencement or 1 July each year.
- a lump sum withdrawal (called a commutation) – this is treated as a superannuation lump sum benefit and depending on when you make the commutation and your age, may be subject to tax.

Pension payments and lump sum withdrawals may have different tax treatment (although both are generally tax free if you're aged 60 or over), transfer balance account treatment, and social security treatment. You should speak with your financial adviser and see the current PDS for more details. You must make your election about whether the withdrawal is a pension payment or lump sum withdrawal before you make a withdrawal.

In the case of payments from a death benefit account based pension, different tax rules apply.

- Pension payments are generally tax free if either you are aged 60 or over or the deceased passed away after reaching age 60. Tax may apply on part or all of your pension payment where this is not the case (although a tax offset then generally applies).
- Lump sum withdrawals are tax free in most cases, regardless of your age.

Withdrawals to reduce your excess transfer balance

If you receive an Excess Transfer Balance Determination from the ATO you can withdraw the amount specified in the determination as a lump sum withdrawal, or, if your pension is not a death benefit pension, you can rollover the amount to a superannuation account. Regular and additional pension payments are not 'lump sum withdrawals' and do not reduce your transfer balance account.

You should speak with your financial adviser and see the current PDS for more details. You must make your election to make the withdrawal a lump sum withdrawal before you make the withdrawal.

Can I make a full withdrawal?

If a lump sum withdrawal results in a full withdrawal, we are required to pay your minimum pension amount for the relevant portion of that financial year. If you have already received more than this amount, there is no further income payment required.

Your lump sum withdrawal will include both taxable and tax-free components in the same proportions as your account balance.

They will be calculated by us just prior to processing your commutation.

If you need further explanation regarding any of the terms used in this section, please discuss with your financial adviser.

Note: For a full lump sum withdrawal/rollover, a pro rata minimum pension payment must have been paid prior to the withdrawal/rollover.

For a partial lump sum withdrawal/rollover, a pro rata minimum pension payment must have been paid prior to the withdrawal/rollover, OR the balance left immediately after the withdrawal/rollover is at least enough to pay any remaining calculated minimum payment for the rest of the financial year.

Pre-retirement Pension withdrawals

If you invest in a pre-retirement pension, there are restrictions on when you can access your preserved and restricted non-preserved amounts. You will generally not be able to make lump sum withdrawals until you meet a 'condition of release'. For example:

- reaching age 65
- ceasing a gainful employment arrangement after age 60
- reaching your preservation age, ceasing a gainful employment arrangement (either before or after reaching preservation age) and intending never to work again for 10 or more hours each week
- a terminal medical condition.

Please contact your financial adviser for further information.

Note: We are required to cash any benefits you withdraw or take as pension payments from your pre-retirement pension in the following order: unrestricted non-preserved, restricted non-preserved and then preserved.

Once you reach age 65, or notify us in writing that you have met another eligible condition of release (retirement, terminal medical condition, permanent incapacity), your pre-retirement pension will become a retirement phase income stream. The value at that time will count towards your transfer balance cap, while earnings on assets supporting your pension from that point will become tax free. There will be no maximum pension payment rule, or restriction on lump sum withdrawals once your pension is a retirement phase income stream.

Please speak with your financial adviser for further information.

Term Allocated Pension withdrawals

In general, you cannot make lump sum withdrawals from your term allocated pension. There are some limited exceptions in which you can make a withdrawal including:

- to roll over your pension to another complying pension (Note: There may be restrictions, including social security implications, on rolling over to another complying pension after 20 September 2007)
- if you (and in some cases your reversionary beneficiary if any) die before the end of the term
- to pay superannuation contributions surcharge
- to give effect to a family law payment split
- to pay an excess contributions tax liability
- to pay a lump sum amount to give effect to a release authority from the ATO
- to comply with a commutation authority issued by the ATO in relation to an excess transfer balance.

If you do roll over your term allocated pension to another provider, we are required to pay your pro-rated pension amount for the relevant portion of that financial year.

How long does it take to process a withdrawal request?

We normally make withdrawal payments within seven working days of receiving your request. Longer periods may apply from time to time. In extraordinary circumstances we may suspend withdrawals.

If we receive your fully completed withdrawal request before 3pm (Sydney time) on a NSW business day, we use the exit unit price calculated at the close of business on that day.

You can cancel a withdrawal on the same day by providing us with a signed written request or contact us by phone by 3pm (Sydney time) that day. Where an option is suspended, restricted or unavailable, we may not process withdrawal requests. Any decisions whether to process withdrawals or partial withdrawals will be made in the best interests of investors as a whole, and if any payment is to be made, then the exit price used to calculate this payment will be the one determined at the time the payment is made.

Anti-Money Laundering and Counter-Terrorism Financing laws and Sanctions laws

We are required to comply with these laws, including the need to establish your identity (and, if relevant, the identity of other persons associated with your account).

Additionally, from time to time, we may require additional information to assist with this process.

We may be required to report information about you to the relevant authorities. We may not be able to tell you when this occurs. We may not be able to transact with you or other persons. This may include delaying, blocking, freezing or refusing to process a transaction or ceasing to provide you with a product or service. This may impact on your investment and could result in a loss of income and principal invested.

5 AUTO REBALANCING

If you have auto-rebalancing on your account and you transact outside your future investment selection weightings, your transaction will cancel this facility. You should complete this section if you wish to re-establish the facility.

Note: The auto-rebalancing facility switches your investments quarterly or annually to bring them in line with your future investment selection weightings (excluding the FirstRate Saver Non-Auto-rebalancing option, FirstRate Term Deposits and any suspended, restricted or unavailable options). Buy/sell spreads may apply and there may be tax consequences of using the auto-rebalancing facility. You should only complete this section under advice or if you are clear on how the facility works.

Establish or re-establish auto-rebalancing facility
 I wish to establish or re-establish auto-rebalancing on my account. I understand that the rebalancing weightings will be in line with my future investment selection, being the weightings resulting from my withdrawal details specified in section 3 – ‘Withdrawal instructions’.

Please select the frequency for your account. If you make no frequency selection, we will rebalance your portfolio annually.

 Annually (First business day after 14 May)
 Quarterly (First business day after 14 February, May, August and November)
